

EHR

This is an abbreviation for electronic health record.

A systematic collection of health information about individual patients or populations that is stored in digital form.